SUNDAY, 17th AUGUST 1862.

Congress—Senators.

The Chamber met yesterday at 1 P. M.—28 members being present.—The official reply from General Mitre, acknowledging the decree of Congress touching Corrientes was read.

The Paraná National Debt was then called on.

Dr. Sarsfield said—The Committee have recommended the adoption of this project in the same manner as those which have preceded it.

The bill was then put to the vote on general reading and passed unanimously.

The 1st article, authorising the recognition of the Paraná Bonds held by Mr. Buschental, General Urquiza and others, was placed in discussion.

Dr. Sarsfield said.—This is the most important matter we have yet taken into consideration. Many private interests are at stake, and hence rumors may be got up against the bill, but this is unimportant. We have now to deal with the national debt of Paraná, a government not perhaps national, being separated from Buenos Ayres, but perfectly legitimate in the constitution of 13 provinces: it was recognised by the European powers, and perfectly capable of providing for its subsistence by whatever means it judged fit. Perhaps the late Presidential Gov. paid exorbitant prices, but such were its exigencies that it had issued a number of letters of credit which it subsequently converted into public funds of 6 p$\frac{c}{o}$. Four millions were issued in Bonds, of which a wealthy banker took 3 millions on security of the National Customs, leaving Rosario free of encumbrance. The Paraná Gov. did not submit these negociations to any foreign jurisdiction; therefore we cannot enter the question, or judge of a fait accompli on the part of a legal Government. No matter whether fraud or corrup ion was the end to which the money was devoted, we cannot upset the legitimacy of acts committed by virtue of existing laws and by regular consent. One consideration alone enters, the means of paying. The debts amount to some eight millions, while the 13 provinces give at present a rental of 3 millions which will must certainly double within two or three years. The Nation must be liable for responsibilities entered into by the 13 provinces, as I will shew by reference to a parallel case which occurred in the United States.

Here he read from Kent's Commentaries the case of a sale of state-lands by Georgia, which it was afterwards sought to repudiate, but the obligation was verified by the Supreme Court of Justice. Kent also gives 10 parallel cases.

He continued—It is said Congress has right to examine this Debt, as everyone may, when required to pay an Account. But this is false, for we must pay the obligation entered into by union with the provinces, without examination. The Romans always paid the debts of whatever kingdom they annexed, and so did Queen Isabella on expelling the Moors from Granada.

But it is said there is usury in the charges—for example 8 patacons for a soldier's cap—I ask was the price 8 patacons or was it not rather a note worth 8 less 7—for in paper-credit there is no usury. If 8 patacons had been paid, I could understand the accusation, but it is known that the promissory notes are of doubtful value and even questioned by this Chamber. Therefore they are only worth their credit, and cannot be terminal usury. At that time the contractor, who is charged with usury, could have bought Buenos Aires 6/per cents, in London, at 20 per cent, which are now quoted at 96. So much for public credit.

It is objected that these bonds are "blood-tickets" having been laid out in making war upon us; but this is an exaggerated view, since the money served only for salaries for Deputies &c. Even admitting it were spent on improper objects, the letters of credit have now passed into the hands of third parties, bonafide speculators or merchants and if we attempt to repudiate them, we go against the fixed principles of jurisprudence and affect the public credit of the Nation.

Dr. Elizalde said. I have consented on Committee to this Bill although not entirely of accord with the sentiments of the last speaker. I believe it wiser to accept the Debt, even violating some sentiments of repugnance, which we cannot always stifle. It appears the Paraná Government issued 4 millions in Bonds, 3 millions of which were taken up by a certain rich contractor who gave value for such. Are we then liable for this debt? Most clearly we are. If the money was squandered or improperly applied, we cannot repudiate the Bonds; but we have an action against those who contracted such obligations. In the time of Rosas, an estanciero received some Bonds for a quantity of cattle to be given to the Indians. The cattle was not given, yet when I was in office, it was decided we should pay the "Coupons" and take no action afterwards against the contractor. This case is nearly equal, so that we must pow recognise the Debt. Neither is it true that we hereby sanctify an enormity. We merely follow the plain rules of jurisprudence.

Dr. Alsina. I admit this bill in general, but the application of some principles is, in my opinion, erroneous. There may have been fraud in the acquisition of these Bonds and this we must examine. It is said they are like bills payable at sight, and that we cannot question their acquisition by third parties. We must distinguish: I admit that we cannot ask how they passed from one holder to another—but I am perfectly justified in examining how they were first acquired. If created by a fraudulent compact between the late Government and contractor, we have clearly a right to repudiate them. Several years are circulated about such frauds and we would therefore act foolishly not to examine the matter thoroughly.

Dr. Sarsfield said. The honorable Senator forgets that as I reminded him, these Bonds and accounts were submitted to the Congress of Paraná, confirmed by the President, and testified by all the authority of an independent nation. We must therefore pay these, if we have no objection, or else give up the Confederation Mitre, which was given in security, and which has produced over two millions $.—The Roman Law says "a dead man's debts must be paid by him who receives his goods".

Dr. Elizalde explained that the only examination would be as to the million dollars, which was not converted into Bonds.

The Minister of Finance said. —When I was named Minister of the Republic after the union of Buenos Ayres, the first obstacle I found was that all the Custom-houses of the river-ports were mortgaged and handed over to a certain gentleman, who had authority to pay himself and manage all the Customs, free of Government. The Customs gave him about one million $ silver per an. at 18 to 24 per cent interest. When the Republic found the gravity of this incumbrance the Government resolved to convert these mortgages into bonds, which were accepted by all, except Urquiza.

Dr Alsina thought that three millions of dollars were legally conveyed, no doubt existing except as regards the remaining million.

Dr Navarro said—The doubt as to this million is naturally caused by those holders of customs dues having refused to give up their hold in exchange for bonds. Hence, too, arises the suspicion of collusion between the National authorities and the contractors.

Dr Zuviria noted, on part of the committee, no suspicion of fraud was held as the motive for advising the lodgment in bank of the proceeds intended to cover the doubtful million. Congress merely asked an explanation.

Paraná had no authority to give out this million, the bonds are a mere forgery, being acquired of an improper source—like the 3 Englishmen, in Rosas' time, who bought the houses of persons murdered by the tyrant to that cause to throw out the mock-purchasers, and the English government approved our act, saying they would not be accomplices of murder.

The article authorising the recognition of the three millions was then put to the vote.

Ayes 19, Noes 1 (Pitero).

The Minister of Finance valued the Treasury bills of Paraná at 35 per cent.

At the hour of going to press, the other articles were in debate, but we anticipate no opposition.

Professional curtesies.

Politeness, according to Lord Chesterfield, is the peculiar line of demarcation between the gentleman and the blackguard. It is the great social patent which admits the human donkey to fellowship with his rational brethren: it is worth more than a lawyer's diploma, or doctor's recipe, and gilds the asperities of life with a superficial lustre, which dazzles at first sight.

Porteños lay claim to an unusual stock of this commodity, which they liberally dispense on every occasion. It is therefore a matter of surprise that our colleague the "Tribuna" should so far forget himself as to violate the conventional rules of press-courtesy. In yesterday's publication we read "the Ministry is wasting time and money, copying articles from the "Standard" and publishing them in the columns of the "Revista", which might be more usefully filled."

We make every allowance for the jealousy inseparable from petty minds; we overlook the passing insult, which reflects more discredit on our adversary than on us; we sympathise with the great journalist whose popularity is fast tending to zero: above all we dislike instituting comparisons, (always odious) between our paper and Sor Varela's. This gentleman evidently hates the light, and in a blind spirit of self-conceit, wishes to impose his own ideas on the public, while excluding everything that may shew up the delusion. If he acted in good faith, he would have courted argument, as we do, for this is the proof of strength, as we read in Shakespeare.

"Thrice is he armed who hath his quarrel just."

Sor. Varela has one sweeping theory.—No man must discuss the capital question unless with a permit from No. 31 calle Victoria Romos Mr. Billinghurst is a privateer, and the "Standard" a quack practitioner. Hence the "Revista" is culpable, for admitting our elucidations, when "it might have more useful matter." Surely Dr. Mariano has a deal of impudence to pretend that the thousand absurdities of his paper would be more interesting than our articles. He wishes the public to believe that Cork is in Holland, that Rome is the Holy city, that Cardinals are styled Monsignor, that Irishmen and Bivarians are savages, &c. He indulges in an unjust attack on the Bishop, in defence of a roving infidel, or a blasphemous jest of breakfasting on the Holy Ghost! He blunders, bullies, barks, bites, and bully-rags in turn, and wonders that the Ministry, public, and foreign body are not so enchanted as himself, at the eighth Wonder of the World, "La Tribuna".

Editor's Table.

In another column will be found full particulars of the murder in Magdalena. As yet, no arrest has been made, beyond that unfortunate man's brother and friends, who came into town with the corpse; but, as the clothes which have been stolen are easily identified, it is thought that a very slight exertion on the part of the authorities may lead to important results.

We extract the following from a letter we have just received, by last mail, from a London gentleman of go al standing. It will be read with interest by many, as a plain statement of Buenos Ayr an affairs in London;—

"Buenos Ayres will do no good, financially speaking, until it gets rid of the paper currency, and from what I learn, the Government is not sufficiently experienced or enlightened to be able to settle this matter; otherwise I believe capitalists on this side would be found to provide the needful, to redeem the paper, but not until Buenos Ayrean funds reach 100 in this market, and the gold cent be reduced to 5 per cent, which is the will be by the bondholders themselves, next year.

"Rivera and Mitre have a great card to play, if they are only allowed to do so by the clique which opposes them. The carrying of the Southern Railway is a great triumph, and will be the making of the place.....

"Mr Fair, who is one of our Bank directors that was to be, goes out by this steamer. Mr Louis has, however, been somewhat more fortunate: he has got his Buenos Ayres bank scheme through whilst we were inside the sport of theoretical experiments, and attempts to make a pet, by working through wrong channels

"Although money is plentiful, there is great distrust as to the future, for no one can see a way out of the American business, and the weather has been so bad as to cause serious fears for the harvest; a cotton famine and bread famine would finish us all, and compel those who could afford the value of a passage to emigrate. »

"Next month or two will be watched intently by all monied men, and you may rely on it that 'all is not gold that glitters.'

Further particulars of the murder in Magdalena.

The name of the unfortunate victim was William Moore, a native of Kircudbrightshire, Scotland: he was a bachelor, aged 41 years, and had been a resident of this country for six years. Deceased had a flock of sheep which he personally cared, living for the most part alone; he had 2 dogs at his house, of the San Martin breed, and even the Basque, who was a near neighbour of deceased, was afraid, on finding Moore's horse wandering about the camp, to enter the house, on account of these dogs. This Basque, it appears, went for some other neighbours, suspecting there was something wrong, and brought a Mr. R. Sadler and his peon, who lived in the vicinity, to inspect the place.

On entering, they found deceased lying on his bed, his cranium open, apparently by a hatchet. As the sheep had been out all night, the murder must have been committed on the previous afternoon. The very book which deceased were were stolen, also some Brazilian tobacco, and sugar, biscuits and clothes.

Deceased's brother conveyed the corpse into town, and, previous to setting out, inquired of the teniente-alcalde, if any document was necessary. This functionary was all afloat as to the usual routine in such matters, and gave no paper. The result was, that Mr. S. Moore, on reaching this city, was immediately put in the Policia, and kept there all night. On the following day he was liberated, on the consul's parole.

WOOL CIRCULAR FOR THE RIVER PLATE MAIL.

IMPORT OF RIVER PLATE WOOL INTO EUROPE.

London, Liverpool, Antwerp, Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Havre, Marseilles, Bordeux. Total bales, to 30th June, 1862—34,676.

Liverpool, 11, Dale Street,
8th July, 1862.

Notwithstanding the adverse course of Continental markets last month, and considerable flatness in our own during that period, we have at length to report a rather firmer tone in England. Consumption, though in many branches unsatisfactory, and only slightly modifiable, is in the aggregate considerable, and the total stock of wool is light. The effect of the reserve of action has up to the present time been to depress wool by restricting business generally and diminishing people's power to purchase woollen goods, but the disparity in the present and former relative value of cotton and wool has now made it a question whether it will not outweigh the former influence, and a few speculative purchasers of other wools than River Plate have already been made on this account.

At Liverpool several sales, by private contract, of washed Montevideo and Entre Rios mestas have been made, chiefly at 13 1/2d to 15 1/2d for ordinary to good light nearly free of burr, down to 9d for nearly common, and a parcel of extra super Buenos Aires merino at 19d. Washed Cordoba is in demand at 10d for average to 10 1/2d good, and a sale made at the latter. Washed common Montevideo is wanted at 6d to 8 1/2d. Unwashed common Montevideo sold at 5d to 5 1/2d. Unwashed Cuenos Aires merino sold in parcels at 7 1/2d to 8 1/2d. During the last few days a demand on a moderate scale for the United States has set in, and as Liverpool for the first fortnight of it we have to report an inquiry for good unwashed merino and No. 1 mestizo at 8 1/2d to 8 3/4d, showing a recovery of 1/2d to 1/2d per lb.; the coarser kinds are not affected by it.

At Antwerp on 25th to 27th June 7315 bales unwashed River Plate were offered and 3467 sold. Competition dull, particularly the last day. Prices of a few good parcels of fine wool in light condition, as well as ordinary Nos. 4, 5, and common, were only slightly lower than the sales held there in April, but the bulk declined 3d per lb., and some very defective lots 1d to 1 1/4d per lb.; many parcels of No. 1 and merino Buenos Aires for instance selling at 7 1/2d to 8d and some for less. Most of the clip of Buenos Aires wool for the year 1861 is in worse condition than usual and contains up to 68 and even 73 per cent of filth and burrs, while that of Montevideo is comparatively clean, wasting only 55 to 60 per cent, containing few burrs, and therefore much more saleable.

At Havre, on 17th inst, 4,000 bales Buenos Aires and 2,000 Montevideos will be offered at auction,—very little doing in that market at present. At Rotterdam, on 21st to 23rd inst, 615 bales Buenos Aires will be offered, and 1,500 bales at Liverpool at about same period.

JOHN L. BOWES & BRO
Wool Brokers.

Liverpool 9 July,

During the past month the new clip of English Wool has come to market but slowly, the prevailing cold and wet weather having somewhat retarded the shearing process, but to far the demand has been very good, and the prices obtained are on the average equal to last years rates in July. This has imparted a better feeling to our Wool market generally, and we are consequently able to report more active business than in the preceding month, but as regards the Home Trade and also the demand for Export.

River Plate Wools still continue neglected, the low prices at which inferior-conditioned Capo and Australian Wools sold at the last London sales having had a depressing effect upon this class. The imports of Russia, Turkey, Egyptian, &c., have been light, of the first-named considerable sales are reported to have been effected "for arrival," whilst the other descriptions are likely to be held over for our approaching Public Sales. The arrivals from Oporto have been 1,060 bags, but the trade being still rather uncertain as to the range of prices for Domestic Wools, have operated with great caution in this class; however, some importers, apprehending lower prices for English, have accepted rather reduced rates. Lisbon: Only 128 bags have been received, partly black unwashed, for which there is anything but an active demand. Mohair, of which the imports amount to 476 bags, is still in good request, and continues to be bought almost exclusively "for arrival." Angora: 1,325 bags, chiefly unwashed, have arrived, part of which has met with a very dull sale, for the washed parcels importers seem to demand more than the trade are disposed to give at present, and the transactions have therefore been limited.

The stocks of South Wool are very much reduced, and holders are consequently asking very high prices.

Of Sheepskins the imports have been considerable, but they are not yet placed on the market. The low prices of middle class Colonial Wools refer to above, materially interfere also with the value of Skins.—Wool circular, R. W. Linnold & Son,

Liverpool, July 7th 1862.

Since the issue of our last the arrivals from the River Plate include the John Martin, Queen Bee, and John Ritson, from Buenos Ayres, and the Antonino, Cricketer Columbo, and Leila, from Monte Video, bringing 23,886 salted Ox and Cow, and 3 427 salted Horse Hides. From Rio Grande the Wish has brought 4,000 salted Ox and Cow, and 2,187 salted Horse Hides. There have also arrived the Tyne from Buenos Ayres, and the Marchesino and Adrotti from Monte Video, with cargoes of Tallow. From other quarters the principal imports of hides have been 9800 dry salted Brazil, 5,370 salted North American, and 25,600 East India Kips and Buffalo Hides

Whatever of improvement we had to notice in the demand for salted River Plate Hides in our last circular was of short duration, and the market again relapsed into the same dull heavy state of inactivity which has been its prevailing feature for some months past. The sales have been on the most restricted scale, and the value of light heavy mid light Ox has again receded 1/8 per lb. Cows are still neglected. Rio Grande, heavy Ox, have met with more enquiry the last few days, and sales have been effected at a decline of 1/4d per lb.

Salted River Plate.—Sales, 6,000 Buenos Ayres light Ox, 48 1/2 lbs. at 6 3/4d. per lb., and 4 lbs. tare; ditto sale, at 7 1/8d per lb., and 4 lbs. tare. Monte Video heavy Ox, 62 to 64 lbs. at 6 1/2d. per lbs. at 6 1/2 to 6 5/8d. per lb., and 5 lbs. tare; light Ox, 42 to 51 lbs. at 6 1/2d. to 6 5/8d. per lb., and 4lbs tare; extra heavy, 80 lbs, at 6 1/2d. per lb., and 7 lbs. tare; Cow, 47 to 49 lbs. at 5 1/2d per lb. and 4 lbs. tare; heated, 59 1/2 to 66 lbs. at 6 1/2d per lb., and 5lbs. tare; damaged, at 4 7/8d. to 5 5/8d. per lb.; Uruguay, Cow, 44 to 46 1/4 lbs. at 5d. to 5 1/2d per lb., and 4 lbs tare. 7,000 salted Rio Grande, 52 1/2 to 62 lbs. at 7 1/4d. to 9 1/2d. per lb 28,000 Laudry, country skins, 20 1/2 lbs., at 15s; 224 to 26 5/8 lbs. at 10s 3d.; 14 1/4 to 15 5/8 lbs. at 6s. to 7s. 2d.; 12 to 13 1/4 lbs. at 5s 1d to 5s. 6d.; 7 1/2 to 8 1/2 lbs. at 3s 2d to 3s 8d; tare, 4 lbs. 12 to 26 lbs. town skins, 11 3/8 lbs. at 11s 1d to 11s 2d; tare 4oz. ds per doz. 46,000 skinks, 5 1/2 to 4 lbs. at 1s 3d to 1s 6d; tare, 6c. 6d to 9d per doz.

JOHN BROWNING, JUN., & Co.

Liverpool 7th July, 1862. The larger business recalled River Plate Hides, noticed in our last month's report, produced no permanent improvement in the market, which has continued in a state of heaviness and inactivity; and the sales since made are at declining prices, leaving our previous quotations about 1/8d to 1/4 per lb. lower. In Rio Grande salted, the business of the month has been confined to the sale of a few heavy Ox Hides, at 6 3/4d per lb., which is a considerable decline upon the previous prices made for a parcel of good quality.—Extract from Hudson & Co's Price current.

New York, June 21 1862.

The past week has been a very animated and many important transactions have taken place in merchandize, with advancing prices.—The heavy change in London having advanced to 110 to 118, has in a measure checked operations as importers are loth to part with their goods until they can be established as to the rate of exchange to purchase remittance. The premium on gold for the past week has been from 6 to 7 per cent premium; and as the Secretary of the Treasury has asked Congress to authorize an additional issue of one hundred and fifty millions of "legal tender" notes, which will no doubt be granted, our financial affairs will soon be placed on a specie and paper basis. Of the previous issue of notes, 90 millions are receivable for duties. This will bear from 6 per cent premium and in consequence, as there is a greater premium on gold, will not enter into circulation, and will only be used in the Custom House. The Secretary only proposes to issue the new creation to the wants of the Government may require, and as they are at any time convertible in six per cent stocks, payable from 5 to 24 years, there ought not to be that alarm about inflation that some profess to experience. The abundance of money should not be converted into interest bearing stock, and must of necessity be employed in merchandize in order to be productive, prices would advance, but the demands of the West and South West for a reliable circulating medium will absorb whatever may be issued of the new creation without much prejudice to trade, and the dissatisfaction with the Government's proposition arises more from speculative bankers than the commercial community. As large a proportion of the South American trade is carried on by using exchange on England, which now adds a heavy per centage to the cost of importations, the course of exchange must own a careful study of shippers, and as some are of the opinion that it will rise higher, strong offs to must be made to buy low, to overcome this. Government 6 per cent stock of 1881, is selling at 107 and 7/30 per cent stock 105 1/2 showing the great confidence our capitalists have in this class of securities. Being able to carry on very expensive a war with no other capital than that furnished by our own citizens, shows the utmost unbounded resources of our country.

The Mississippi River is now free from rebel obstructions, and trade is being carried on between Cincinnati & other western cities, with the river towns and New Orleans. Direct trade with New Orleans is also opened, and vessels have already arrived with cargoes, and many loading for that destination. We will, no doubt, have an active trade with the Southwest and New Orleans, in articles of prime necessity, and notwithstanding their impoverished state by the disastrous destruction of private property, in consequence of the war, and which is infinitely greater than the war expenses of the Government, their resources are and will be found to buy food and clothing.

General McClellan is besieging Richmond, being within a few miles of it, and no doubt by now or 4th July, has won, preparing to attack it. The cotton is gradually being tightened around the South.

Unwashed Mestiza Wool.—Further additions have been made to our stock by late arrivals from Buenos Ayres; and the recent importations have been very liberal, a large portion being for manufacturers account. The difficulty in the United States in procuring Cotton has given Buenos Ayres increased demand, this Wool being offered for sale to a large extent. In last year's wool, considerable importations have been made on mixing up. 533 bales, at 23 23 1/2 and 24 cts. per lb., 6 months. One fancy lot was placed at a much higher rate. Last in Boston there has been sales to a fair extent. The new clip is more burry than last year's was, and will not command as high a figure, but there is very little of the old importations remaining unsold.

Unwashed Common Entre Rios Merino.—Sales to-day, 200 bales, and Buenos Ayres Wools.—The importations sum up nearly 300 bales; and sales, 147 bales at 12 to 14 cts. per lb., 6 months. Amongst which there was a parcel of 33 bales Corrientes Wool.

Washed Cordova, Santiago—San Luis, and Mendoza Wool.—The imports reach 230 bales; and sales, sum up 223 bales at 25 and 23 1/4 cts. per lb., 6 months. The arrivals may be considered firm and saleable at these figures. Stock very light.

Common Montevideo Wool.—An importation of 12 bales, washed, was sold at 21 cts. per lb., 6 months. In Boston a sale of some 150 bales, unwashed, is reported at 12 cts. per lb. net cash.
